

US Failure & The Taliban Success Story

The purpose of the following paper is to counter the Western narrative on Afghanistan, and to disprove general misinformation about the current Afghan government. It shows how US policy caused 9/11 in the first place, US refusing to give evidence of Osama's involvement, and refusing the Taliban's offer to put Osama on trial by a third party. It shows how the US is causing a humanitarian disaster by freezing aid, freezing Afghanistan's own money (proving also that it was not from US taxpayers but hard earned money by Afghan businesses and individuals), and sanctioning the nation, which has caused businesses all over the country to cripple and kill mainly children, daily.

Fake news stories as well as narratives are exposed, showing how much of what is shown in the Western media about the IEA is factually false. This includes women's rights; it shows how women are on TV, go to schools, and have jobs, but the media blatantly lies about these things. It shows how the war crimes and destruction did far more damage than the tiny amount of aid helped; the vast majority of the aid was not used to help the people at all, but was stolen or wasted. The US never gave Afghans a chance to make a stable country because the US put pedophiles, rapists, thieves, killers, corrupts, etc. in power. It also shows the progress being made by the IEA which is not shown in the media.

9/11 and Osama

The common claim that the US was justified in invading Afghanistan after 911 is false. The hijackers were not from Afghanistan. All countries have sovereignty, and international law requires evidence and trial for criminals. The US refused this, negating the notion of independence at all.

Osama Bin Laden denied involvement in 9/11:

The idea that corporations were using the war to enrich themselves was regarded as propaganda and conspiracy theory at the time, yet is now commonly accepted among Americans. Osama says 9/11 did not happen because of the West's freedoms, but because the West attacked Iraq, Kuwait, Lebanon, etc killing over a million people. But even then only after the US did not retract their accusation: <https://archive.ph/6WVRK>

War Crimes and Destruction Against Afghanistan

Hundreds of thousands of people were killed in the Afghanistan-USA war and countless war crimes committed. Drone attacks as well as intentional destruction of entire villages, massacres, indiscriminate shooting, etc. have killed far more than the figure the US gave out. The aid given was a tiny fraction of the amount used to destroy infrastructure in the first place. The US allied itself with known thieves, war criminals, rapists, pedophiles, corrupts, and not only allowed such crimes to occur, but worked with and protected them, punishing those who attempted to even investigate. The following only details several of the war crimes and methods of destruction, but reveals the various angles of how many civilians were killed and covered up, property destroyed, crimes committed, permanently damaged, etc.

UN says US and US backed forces killed more civilians than all insurgents combined, and rejects US claims that it was due to insurgents hiding in civilian areas:

US Directly Causing Economic and Humanitarian Disaster

The US is directly responsible for the economic and humanitarian disaster currently ongoing in Afghanistan, not the Taliban. This section details how the frozen Afghan bank funds are not aid money, but Afghan sovereign wealth. It shows how the sanctions are destroying businesses all over the country. It shows how the US is also blocking donations from people and groups all around the world from helping starving children, who are the main casualties. There have been 0 credible reports of the Taliban stealing any of the tons of aid donated by countries like China, Pakistan, Iran, Turkey, Kazakhstan, etc. so the idea that the aid would do nothing is another false notion.

Red Cross blames the USA for the humanitarian crisis in Afghanistan:

<https://www.thenationalnews.com/opinion/comment/2021/12/17/its-time-to-unfreeze-afghanistan-s-assets-the-taliban-are-here-to-stay/>

Again, Afghan bank assets are not aid, but their own wealth in the form of cash, gold, and investments: <https://archive.ph/YqYTI>

The average Afghan is locked out of their own bank accounts. They cannot do business, and thus the owner of a company cannot pay his suppliers, or his workers, of whom over 100 are women:

The Aid Myth

Most of the aid given to Afghanistan was military. Only small amounts of aid were spent in rebuilding, but did not even cover the cost of damages done by initial bombing. Out of that, much was simply stolen by corrupt criminals, or re-bombed after construction.

Cost breakdown. Vast majority of "aid" was military, which ended up causing more damage than the tiny amount of real aid: <https://archive.md/spvza>

US and international companies were paid, then cheaply built things that were never used, sometimes building nothing at all. Much of what was built wasn't needed or wanted:

Over a thousand schools were not being used yet ghost teachers were getting paid and ghost students were touted as successes. Women's Rights

If the Taliban banned women from going to school, why are women and girls attending school and universities in Afghanistan? Why are more and more schools opening for both boys and girls in Afghanistan? Women are on Afghan TV, do not need to cover their face, etc. Proof.

The Taliban were legendary in Afghanistan in the 90s for protecting women and children from rape, brutally punishing criminals. The reason there was so much crime was because after the Soviets and the US left, it was a free for all. Any commander essentially had his own fiefdom because they had weapons left over from the war. It was a feudal era. Although the commanders were called Mujahideen, they were not religious, just fighters, and many were drug addicts. No one opposed them until the religious Mujahideen banded together against the lawlessness. They were the Taliban. The US then allied themselves with the same criminals that the Taliban had deposed: https://military-history.fandom.com/wiki/Mohammed_Omar

Fake News and Narratives Exposed

Since the liberation of Afghanistan, no massacre by the Taliban has happened. General amnesty has been declared. Hundreds of thousands of people fought against the Taliban, but there have been no mass killings, in spite of them having sided with invasive forces.

Hundreds of US state-sponsored journalists left behind in Afghanistan in evacuation, thus thousands disseminating propaganda for 20 years during the war, including VoA, Radio Free,
